

Morton Group brings modern condominiums to downtown Delray

The Morton Group - ADVERTISEMENT

January 2017 | Filed in Florida Home

Renowned architect and Delray resident Richard Jones is designing the five-story Metropolitan, which will showcase several distinct one- and two-bedroom models.

Distinguished developer, the Morton Group, Inc., will be bringing luxurious residences just steps off of downtown Delray Beach with their latest project, The Metropolitan.

Located a half block from the vibrant nightlife and eclectic culture of East Atlantic Avenue, The Metropolitan will boast just 48 well-appointed condominiums, each with open floor plans and designer finishes.

Renowned architect and Delray Beach resident Richard Jones is designing the five-story building, which will showcase several distinct one- and two-bedroom models with contemporary touches, chic details and up to 1,600 square feet of living space, starting from the $600,000s.

The Metropolitan will also host select retail shops, high-end office space, world-class amenities, a rooftop deck and a public plaza, adding to the diverse tapestry that's flourishing in the bustling city of Delray Beach.

Near coveted shopping, delectable cuisine and one of Florida's most popular beaches, downtown Delray is burgeoning into a prized destination for young professionals seeking modern amenities in a walkable city.

Condo shoppers interested in downtown Delray's newest residences are encouraged to visit MetropolitanDelray.com to stay up to date on the latest community news.

About The Morton Group, Inc.

The developer of The Metropolitan, The Morton Group, Inc., has long established itself as one of real estate's most innovative trailblazers. Michael Morton, the company's visionary president has developed more than 40 residential, commercial and public works projects throughout Florida, New York and North Carolina, including the Juilliard School of Music, Crowntree Lakes and Woolbright Place. A family-run business, Michael Morton's son, Bradley Morton, serves as the company's senior vice president, and has been his father's indispensable executive for more than 25 years.